The women at Women's Bean Project are now helping other companies grow!

Though still a fledgling new business, we are now doing assembly and piecework for a handful of small companies. Outsourcing labor helps these companies focus on mission-critical work like sales and marketing so they can grow. And it creates jobs for more women at Women's Bean Project.

"We are putting women to work and doing it through an organization that is focused on much more than just giving someone a job. They are focused on fundamentally and radically transforming the lives of women every day and the communities they are a part of. We are literally shaping our business model around how do we continue to play an active role with Women's Bean Project. These incredible women help ensure excellence with our product through their attention to detail and commitment to helping with our packaging for each production."

THE THIRD LAW BOOK

by CEO Tamra Ryan

According to Newton's third law of motion, for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. The Third Law shows us that even as women work to change their lives there are forces pushing back on that change, societal obstacles that must be overcome and internal demons that must be squelched. It explores what is required for chronically unemployed and impoverished women to create new lives for themselves. Most of all, the book argues for a more compassionate view of recovering addicts, convicted felons, and victims of domestic abuse.

#BOOK01 $14.95

We do not hire women to make our products, we make our products to hire more women.

Women's Bean Project products are found at our retail store at 32nd and Curtis in Denver's historic Curtis Park neighborhood and in nearly 1,000 grocery, fair trade & specialty stores nationwide, as well as through numerous online retailers.

Visit the Retail Partners page on our website for stores in your area or call our office at 303.292.1919 to learn how you can become one of our partners!

"I asked for a job, but Women's Bean Project gave me much more than that. The variety of programs and classes gave me the opportunity to get back on my feet. I have gained self-esteem and hope for my future. My goal right now is to return to school and pursue a degree in criminal justice."

Trudy, current participant

ALL GRADUATES move on to jobs in the community.

93%

93% of these formerly chronically unemployed women are still employed a year later.

Independent research shows that social enterprises provide a significant return on investment, for taxpayers, philanthropy, government, and of course, the people they serve.

The combined cost of a criminal conviction and a year of incarceration can exceed $70,000. Employment is key to breaking out of poverty and STAYING OUT OF PRISON.

Social enterprises are double-bottom line businesses focused on hiring and assisting people who are willing and ABLE TO WORK, but who face formidable barriers to employment.

$18,000

IT COSTS $18,000 for women to go through our program and most of that is their wages.

Our Guiding Principles

★ OPPORTUNITY

We help women help themselves. We provide opportunities for our program participants to discover their talents and develop skills to join the workforce and build a better life.

★ SERVICE

We strive to “do well by doing good.” We are a social enterprise that believes it is a basic human right to live a stable, healthy life. We serve our supporters, partners, participants and communities by delivering quality products with innovation and efficiency.

★ TRANSFORMATION

Our efforts transform more than the individual woman. The seeds of hope in one woman weave threads of success that expand to families and communities with a reach that touches individuals worldwide. From program participants and vendors to customers, donors and volunteers, their transformations make a difference.

★ EMPOWERMENT

Using the tools we provide, women are empowered to change their lives. Our supporters are empowered with the knowledge that they have contributed, not only to the self-worth and self-sufficiency of women with barriers, but also to the broad-reaching benefits our communities reap.

★ SUSTAINABILITY

Instead of a one-time handout, women acquire the tools needed to sustain themselves and their families for a lifetime. We believe in nurturing economic sustainability for our program participants and partners, being ever-mindful of our impact on the environment.

"Women's Bean Project taught me so many new skills, like budgeting, organizing and customer service. Being around different kinds of women with many unique stories helped me to not judge because everyone deserves a second chance. All the skills I learned and support I received from the staff and the women, helped me tremendously."
